The hunter - keeper of nature

The unique wilderness of Tyrol has a fauna and flora of its own! Very important are the hunters, who fulfill their daily duties and make sure that there is a balance in nature and that nature is preserved for the generations to come. Of course also the hunt itself is a part of it - and in Tyrol with all its different hunting areas, meadows and pastures you can imagine that it is very diversified.

Luigi Marcati, who is a very passionate hunter invites his guests to get to know all facets of hunting in Tyrol. Together with his team of experienced gamekeepers and hunters you can very closely experience hunting and also how respectful we care of game and nature. In different hunting areas that can also be reached without exhausting walks, you are guaranteed unforgettable hunts.

When measuring „single-crested“ chamois, the measurements of the longer horn are used as a basis for the valuation. If, however, the length of the shorter horn is less than 50 % of the length of the longer horn, an analogous percentage deduction from the valuation is made for each additional percentage of shorter length (e.g. length of the shorter horn = 36 % of the length of the longer horn, results in a deduction of 14 % = difference from 36 % to 50 %). In this case, the display is reconstructed starting from the longer horn by doubling the measurement up to the centre of the skull.

This does not apply to trophies which have lost parts of the horn as a result of the hunt (crash etc.). In this case, the measurements are taken from the intact part of the horn or on the basis of the estimation by the hunting guide. The points to be deducted are determined.

All measurements and assessments are carried out by the hunting guide after the hunt or by the hunting management after the presentation of the boiled out trophies. They are only valid for the calculation of the shooting fees and not for hunting trophy evaluations.

Any subsequent valuations carried out by third parties or valuations that deviate from the original value shall in no case entitle the hunter to derive claims or demands of any kind whatsoever.

THE FINAL INVOICE FOR THE HUNTING INCLUDES:

When measuring the ibex the measurements of the longer horn are taken as a basis for the valuation. However, if the length of the shorter horn is less than 50% of the longer one, each additional percentage will be deducted from the valuation (e.g. length of the shorter horn = 35% of the longer one, results in a deduction of 14% = difference from 36% to 50%).

In this case, the trophy will be reconstructed starting from the longer horn by doubling the measurement up to the centre of the skull.

This does not apply to trophies which have lost parts of the hearing as a result of the hunt (crash etc.). In this case, the measurements are taken from the intact part of the hearing or on the basis of the estimation by the hunting guide and the points to be awarded are determined.

All measurements and assessments are carried out by the hunting guide after the hunt or by the hunting management after the presentation of the boiled trophies.

They are exclusively valid for the calculation of the shooting tax and not for hunting trophy evaluations. Any later valuations carried out by third parties or valuations deviating from the original value do not entitle the hunter to derive any claims of any kind whatsoever.

For your information: Average values determined from numerous measurements resulted in the following mean approximate measurements for the respective age:

Ibex	Age in years	Approx. lenght of horn	Approx. points* without surcharges
Class III	2	28 cm	-
	3	37 cm	-
	4	42 cm	-
Class II	5	51 cm	110
	6	58 cm	127
	7	64 cm	137
	8	70 cm	146
	9	74 cm	150
Class I	10	79 cm and more	161 and more

A goat trophy with a score of approx. 70 points must be considered a high capital.

Depending on the disposition and the time of the shoot (state of the horns), these values can often deviate considerably upwards and downwards. The values given are therefore approximate, and no claims whatsoever can be derived from them.

*) Approx. 6-7 points (maximum 9) can be added for beauty criteria such as beading, colour and swing according to the international formula.
